Resilience has never been more important

At the time of writing this report, the world was waking to a new reality; entire country shutdowns, rising unemployment and a falling stock market during a global health crisis – the Covid-19 Pandemic. Never in our lifetimes have we been presented with such a clear call for businesses and individuals to build resilience.

Brookfield Properties has for many years taken its role in operational, asset and individual resilience very seriously. We build resilience by embedding sustainability into all that we do, and in doing so we have made consistent and determined steps to:

• reduce our environmental footprint and the impact we have on natural resources
• conduct our business to the highest ethical and legal standards
• contribute positively to the communities in which we operate
• provide a safe and prosperous workplace, and
• deliver better experiences for our tenants and customers.

In return, we maintain a portfolio of in-demand assets which deliver sustained value for our investors. Brookfield Properties is one of the world’s largest managers and developers of real estate, built on a platform of excellence and industry best practice. Across the globe we manage around $200 billion in real estate and in Australia, around US$9.7 billion.

Across Australia, we are delivering $4.8 billion in new developments, which are all significantly de-risked prior to construction. At 31 December 2019, 68.27% of lettable space in our development projects underway had been pre-committed.

In this, our 2019 Sustainability Report, we are pleased to share with you our achievements across our Australian portfolio. Key amongst these were our number 1 ranking for tenant satisfaction, further improvements in our environmental performance, the maintenance of a strong and prosperous business culture, top tier rankings for our environmental performance, and stewardship for the communities in which we operate.

With a ~150 strong team nationwide, we continue to look forward to building on our achievements and to pursuing further ESG initiatives that reflect the values of our business and employees. We also look forward to a return to more normalised trading conditions in a post-Pandemic climate.

As always, we welcome your feedback and ideas.

We measure because it matters

We are committed to maximising energy and resource efficiency at our properties. We closely manage the environmental performance through green building certifications, industry sustainability benchmarks, or internal reviews. Our baseline is a rolling five-year methodology which is well accepted in the industry. As the Brookfield Properties baseline keeps improving, we continually achieve reductions in resources used and waste generated. Measuring what we do allows us to identify roadblocks to overcome and opportunities to improve.

In 2019, 111 Bourke Street, Melbourne received a 6 Star Indoor Environment Quality NABERS Rating - 10 years after it was first built.

Shooting for the stars

Across Australia, Brookfield Properties is delivering over $4 billion in property development projects. With sustainability deeply etched into our development psyche, our new build projects are designed to perform.

By way of example, at Wynyard Place in Sydney we have achieved a world-leading 6 Star Green Star Office Design rating, and will accompany this with targeted 5 Star and 4 Star NABERS Energy and Water ratings respectively.

In Melbourne, our office development project at 405 Bourke Street has achieved an Australian excellence rating of 5 Star Green Star Office Design, and we are currently exploring pathways to extend this to achieve the world-leading 6 Star rating. Like Wynyard Place, this is also accompanied by respective target 5 Star and 4 Star ratings for NABERS Energy and Water.

Green Star projects have ongoing performance considerations for the following elements:

- Management
- Indoor Environment Quality
- Energy
- Transport
- Water
- Materials
- Land use and ecology
- Emissions
- Innovation

Green Star 5 stars represents Australian Excellence whilst 6 Stars represents World Leadership.

Within our capital works projects – such as the redevelopment and refurbishment of the 388 George Street office tower in Sydney – we set in place strict criteria to ensure a minimum of 60% of materials are recycled. Currently, we are on track to achieve a recycling rate of 80% from the prior fit-out.
In the 2019 GRESB survey, we achieved a score of 86 and maintained Green Star status for the fifth consecutive year. We outscored the global average for all seven aspects of the survey.

Our GRESB performance

GRESB is an industry-driven organisation that independently assesses the sustainability performance of real estate portfolios. The dynamic benchmark is used by institutional investors to elevate the sustainability performance of property companies.

SCORING MODEL

The GRESB survey is structured around seven aspects, plus a separate aspect for new construction and major renovations. The weighted scores for each of the seven aspects combined, generate the overall GRESB score.

QUADRANT MODEL

The overall GRESB score is divided into two dimensions:

• Management and Policy – the means by which a company handles its portfolio and stakeholders and/or a course or principle of action adopted by the company.
• Implementation and Measurement – the process of executing a decision or plan and/or the action of measuring something related to the portfolio.

The scores for Management and Policy, and Implementation and Measurement are seen using the GRESB Quadrant Model. Each participant is allocated to one of the following quadrants:

- Green Starters - Participants with a score of less than 50 on Management and Policy and a score of less than 50 on Implementation and Measurement.
- Green Talk - Participants with a score that is equal or larger than 50 on Management and Policy but a score of less than 50 on Implementation and Measurement.
- Green Walk - Participants with a score of less than 50 on Management and Policy but a score that is equal or larger than 50 on Implementation and Measurement.
- Green Stars - Participants with a score that is equal or larger than 50 on Management and Policy and a score that is equal or larger than 50 on Implementation and Measurement.

Brookfield obtained Green Star status in 2014.
Persistence is key

We have made a number of important upgrades at 108 St Georges Terrace, Perth since 2012, including replacing the chiller plant, upgrading the building control system, and installing gas heating and energy efficiency lighting. The results are incredibly pleasing. While occupancy in the tower has increased over time, the works we have undertaken have led to an impressive 42% energy reduction when measured against the building’s energy usage in 2010.

We put wellness front and centre

Wellness is as much at the core of our placemaking ethos as it is in the way we deliver better working environments for our tenants.

Each year, we run dozens of free classes for many of our major office assets across Australia, providing spaces for pilates, yoga, fitness training and other wellbeing exercise. We also support charitable and community causes, from R U OK Day and Breast Cancer Awareness to Wheelchair Basketball.

From an operational perspective, we care about the role our buildings play in the adding to the wellness of our tenants. Across the country we provide quality end of trip facilities that include lockers, showers and bicycle repair stations. These are free for use by occupants and promote active lifestyles and alternative transport solutions.

We utilise the NABERS Indoor Environment Quality tool to assess the indoor environment quality of our buildings across a range of measures including thermal and acoustic comfort, and air quality.

We have several ratings of 5 stars and above, demonstrating that we can deliver energy efficient buildings that provide high performing environments.
Consistency is key for minimising waste

Measuring waste outputs from operational assets has presented us and our peers with many challenges; unlike gas, electricity or water, waste cannot be easily measured through a simple metering system.

To achieve waste savings, it was important to us that we were able to refine both our measurement and reporting structures. We have achieved this by implementing measures in accordance with the Better Buildings Partnership (BBP) Waste Management Guidelines.

This has provided us with a means of creating consistency across our assets and has led to the installation of scales at various sites to support weighing of all waste on site and developing more accurate reporting data.

The data we collected from these weighing stations is shared with our tenants to highlight opportunities where they can improve their own business practices and assist us to improve recycling and minimise waste generation.
